The Herald mentioned the serious illness of little Lena Lou Armstrong, in last week's issue. She passed away at 12:30 P. M. Thursday, November 30th, at the Sweetwater Hospital. Age 7 years, 11 months and 22 days.

Lena Lou was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Armstrong of Hamlin, one of the pupils of the Grammar School classes. She took ill very suddenly and soon peritonitis developed from an acute attack of appendicitis. Lena Lou had lived most of her life in Hamlin where her father is superintendent of the Hamlin Oil Mill. Bob Smith formerly operated service stations in Hamlin and had many friends here.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Avis Dean of Hamlin, and one sister and one brother, Wood Smith, both of Hamlin.

Joe A. Simpson Buys The J. B. Eakin Home

Perhaps one of the happiest couples in Hamlin is Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Simpson, who just one week ago moved into the pretty brick veneer known as the J. B. Eakin home, on Central Avenue.

This home is right by the side of the Joe A. Simpson store and this is another fact that makes the couple glad to get the home.

This place is a six room home, with breakfast room, bath, service porch and other built-in features.

JOHN T. DAY PIONEER MERCHANT DIED WED.

JOHN T. DAY

The long and unbroken life of a hardware merchant came to an end in the quiet hours of early Wednesday morning. At 1:15 A. M. death came to John T. Day, at his home on Central Avenue.

For many months the relatives and friends of Mr. Day had known that his illness was to soon lead to his death. Mr. Day had suffered a stroke that effected his speech some time last spring, and since then could make but little audible sound, however he became able to ride about, come down to his place of business, smile and greet his old friends in silence. His former jovial, dignified manner and expressions on the events of the times were not present and this condition only served to draw his friends all the more closely to him in sympathy.

More than a week before his death he took a turn for the worse and most of the time appeared to be in a coma; finally at 1:15 A. M. Wednesday, December 6th, a life of 72 years, 1 month and 24 days was ended.

Mr. Day was born in Days, Mississippi, October 12, 1867. He came to Texas in 1885 and settled at De Leon. At about the age of 20 he began working in a hardware store and this business had his close attention for a continuous 52 years. He often jovially remarked that he had learned and forgotten more about hardware than the late hardware man knows.

On June 7, 1892, he was married to Eula Kee at DeLeon, who remained his faithful companion until her death in October of 1938. The surviving children are John Ed Day, and Mrs. Garland Tumlin of Hamlin, and Mrs. Maurice Smith of Anson. Two brothers, E. R. and J. B. Day, both of Rotan, and one sister, Mrs. W. C. Gorman of Dallas, are the surviving ones of his family.

Mr. Day had lived in this part of Texas since 1907 when the family moved from DeLeon to Rotan where Mr. Day established a new hardware business known then as Day Bros. In 1914 the John T. Day Hardware Co. was established in Hamlin and this family became prominent in business and civic affairs of Hamlin. The firm name of the store was changed to John T. Day & Son following the return of the son from the enlistment of the days of 1917-1918.

Mr. Day was an unusually well informed man. He was a great reader and observer. He made "words" his hobby and was perhaps better informed as to the origin and proper spelling of words than most anyone in this country. He stored up many interesting and valuable books and periodicals. Mr. Day never united with any church but all through his life he contributed and supported the church of his wife and the Kee family. He was the second largest donor to the construction of the local Baptist church and evidenced much interest in all church and school affairs in Hamlin.

Mr. Day was liberal and broad in his thinking, enjoyed looking into the angles of every question. He had an easy personality and one that made his fellowman everywhere his friend.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church Thursday. The body was taken to the building at 9:00 A. M. and for one hour friends from all communities passed the bier that was surrounded with floral offerings from a wide circle of lov-

Coy Fielder Takes Position With Tahoka First National Bank

Last Thursday Hamlin lost a fine young family, when Mr. and Mrs. Coy Fielder and little daughter moved to Tahoka, where Coy takes a position with the First National Bank of that city.

Coy Fielder has been a banker in Hamlin for the past eleven years. He was first with the First National Bank of Hamlin, and after it was sold to the Farmers & Merchants National Bank, he went on with all the old customers and everything to the F. & M. Bank. He has been a steady, courteous, competent man at every window he has faced all these years. It was with reluctance that the Hamlin bank gave Coy up to go to Tahoka, but a young man must look out for promotions and better salary, and so Coy finally decided to give up his home town and step out farther.

Coy Fielder will make Tahoka town a good citizen. He has one of the finest little women for a wife and they both have the proper outlook on life to fill any position in which they may be placed. In Hamlin Mr. and Mrs. Fielder were prominent in social and church circles. They were both teachers in the Sunday School of the Baptist church. It is this class of people that Hamlin deeply regrets to give up to some other city.

Tahoka, we congratulate you.

Mr. Fielder's place in the Hamlin bank will be filled by Lafoy Patterson, a young banker who from time to time has occupied places in Hamlin banking. Lafoy is both banker and farmer and he, like Fielder has that kind of keen business attitude that makes farm boys successful business bankers.

Out of State Visitors

Among the holiday visitors in Hamlin were a group of Bethany-Peniel College students from Bethany, Oklahoma, who were the guests of Miss Avelene Murphree who is a Senior in the College. They were: Misses Lucena De Groodt, and Alene Welch from Oklahoma, Misses Pauline, Jessye and Louise Collins from New Mexico, and Mr. Maurice Gates from Oklahoma.

The group drove from school Wednesday night and returned to Oklahoma Sunday afternoon.

Seniors Present Assembly Program

The Senior class entertained the student body of Hamlin High School Wednesday with a program of novelty and musical numbers. Teddy Russell, class president, announced the following program: "Moonlight Serenade," sung by Maxine Brundage and Stanley Wilson; a radio travesty portrayed by Teddy Russell, Hazel Adkins, Lester Brooks and Maxine Brundage; group singing led by Mr. S. E. Brooks; and a "meller-drammer" presented by Anita Anderson, Bobby Stephens, Stanley Wilson, Frank Hillier, and Paul Steed. Mr. G. C. Collum and Anita Anderson accompanied the musical numbers on the piano.

ed ones and friends. A multitude of people heard the services at 10:00 A. M. conducted by the pastor Rev. Henry Littleton. One particular part of the service was a short talk by Rev. John T. Kee, pastor of the Baptist Church at Canton, Texas. He is a young man, a nephew of Mr. Day. The quiet composure, gentle voice, well chosen words and deep sincerity of the young man's contribution to the last rites touched the hearts of all who heard him. Mr. Day's favorite song was beautifully rendered by a special trio.

All of the deceased immediate relatives were present, except one brother, who was prevented by illness.

Th pallbearers were: Henry Jackson, Dan Howard, T. E. Harden, J. W. Ezell, Carl Greenway, R. H. McCurdy, Paul Bryan and Bowen Pope.

The body was in charge of the Barrow Directors, and was taken to DeLeon for interment by the side of the companion.

Methodists Express Appreciation For Their New Pastor

The Methodist preacher has just edged in and reported that they got an awful pounding down at the church on Wednesday evening. They all assembled for Mid-Week prayer service and all went well till it was over and the pastor and his wife were invited out of the room, into another and to their utter surprise they discovered a big table just groaning under the load of all kinds of good things to eat. It would be too lengthy to give an inventory of the goods, not to even mention the exceedingly great bunch of good will and hearty best wishes spread over it like a halo. Mr. J. E. Moody explained the occasion and the reason for this token. And the pastor expressed gratitude for this remembrance. All in all it was a most happy occasion. If you see the preacher with a slightly enlarged girth you will know he has been opening the gifts.

The spirit of freedom is not in laws and institutions alone. It is expressed in the expansion of the personal experience, in an individual's rather than a nation's room to grow, in the unlocking of human powers and human opportunities. No disaster can black out a nation which lives in that spirit.—New York Times.

Miss Ione Evrage, operator in the Magee Beauty Shop, spent the week end in Abilene with relatives.

CHRISTMAS BUYING

Christmas things are beginning to appear in Stanton stores. The big daily newspapers are carrying large Christmas advertising, jumping into the field early, on the theory of the early bird saying will work out. And that's a mighty good clue for Stanton merchants to work on if they expect to haul some of the home dollars that are looking toward outside towns for a landing field.

—The Stanton Reporter

We take this as a splendid suggestion for ANY BUSINESS MAN in a small town. Christmas is a time when people are going to buy; some much, some less, but whatever the amount spent they are going to spend it with the merchant who has the goods they want, and who has let them know what their stores are offering at this season. Some nearby larger towns are doing this very thing. Why not take a tip from them and do your part to hold Hamlin dollars in Hamlin.

FARMERS VOTE

SATURDAY ON COTTON

Farmers are to vote Saturday on the Cotton Marketing Quota for 1940.

Predictions are that the farmers will cast an overwhelming ballot in favoring the continuation of the present marketing quota plan.

The Federal Farm Program has become so complicated that most all farmers do not know what is best for them. They seem to be afraid to turn down the government plan . . . and they feel that something is wrong with the farm situation, that the efforts to help the farmer who needs help the most is not reaching that group . . . that more vacant houses are seen on the farms and that many of those rent houses yet occupied are in shambles and unfit for comfort, and the occupants are not working the lands adjacent, but can be found on some of the various relief jobs in the towns.

Farmers realize that for every vacant house and every place now occupied by relief workers means community disintegration. They realize that the scholastic populations of all communities are getting less and less, and that this all sums up to say that the town merchant has fewer and fewer customers and thus the circle of mutual support is being broken.

But what about the vote Saturday on Cotton? Has the farmer gone so far he cannot turn back? How many former farmers will not or can not have a say in what the farm program is to be?

There are FOUR "strata" of farmers; yes, and there are FIVE is we may stretch the picture a bit:

FIRST: The land owner who lives far away from the farm, who depends on a "manager" employed by the year to look after his interests; a man who gets his cheeks without much worry, some from actual produced rents and a lot from Uncle Sam.

SECOND: The small farmer who owns his lands; has placed improvements upon it; who has become the "backbone" of the community; who contents himself with taking just what he may get from his lands by his own management and labors.

THIRD: The Well-fixed renter; who has been fortunate in living on the absent owner's property for years; an industrious fellow; supporting the community, schools, churches, merchants; a good bargain-maker, but one who is beginning to FEAR his lot will soon become in a lower strata. He does not know what to do.

FOURTH: The renter who must have everything furnished (the share-cropper) and his class is nearly gone and he is almost like a dodo. If his hands have not gone up in surrender already, he knows the end is not far away, but if somebody will let him have "lands on the halves," he will continue to plod away. He is unable to strike a bargain . . . he must take what terms that are offered.

FIFTH: The fifth class of farmers have passed out in the wide open, pushed from the location of something to live in, something to wear and to eat. Their force in any form of government can not be counted by votes. This class of good people are helpless and hopeless . . . their manner of thinking is determined by empty stomachs and cold backs.

So there is a picture on the eve of a momentous voting day, not only in Texas but wherever cotton is grown.

MAYBE GEORGE WON'T

However outworn it may be, there's still a lot of truth in the old expression that some people are willing to just "let George do it."

Take this Cotton Christmas idea advanced by the National Cotton Council. Just about everybody will agree that it's a fine thing and that it will help boost cotton consumption.

Mighty few folks in the Cotton Belt won't admit that cotton goods are better than ever before. Even fewer will tell you that dozens of fine cotton articles aren't suitable as Christmas presents.

Trouble is that there are some folks who claim they want to make this Christmas a Cotton Christmas and that they certainly do like these new cotton gifts. And then they go down town and buy every blessed thing under the sun but cotton presents.

These are the folks who want to "let George do it." Wonder if they ever stopped to think that maybe George won't do it.

George is no different from everybody else. He knows that when he buys cotton Christmas gifts he is actually putting money in his pocket and in those of other people of the Cotton Belt. But he sits back and waits for other Georges to do it.

Somehow we never did have much faith in waiting for somebody else to do things. We know that if we all pitch in together and buy cotton gifts, we can make this a real Cotton Christmas. Let's go out and do it without waiting for George.

Find The Tax-Free Man

"A nation-wide poll indicates that 25 per cent of the people believe they do not pay taxes," says the Kansas City Times. 'Presumably these are people who never ride in motorcars, who do not live in apartments or houses, who do not buy food or clothing or do any of the other things that go to make up present-day living.

"That 25 per cent is pretty mythical. It's the supreme example of self-delusion. It sees no tax bills and so concludes it does not pay. It's pretty much like saying that because you don't see the heat or the cold neither can exist."

What this all adds up to is simply that the great bulk of taxes collected in this country are hidden taxes. Nobody sends you a quarterly or an annual statement showing the total you pay. Instead you pay taxes hourly, daily, weekly, in little pieces — when you make a purchase or pay your rent or go to a show. And, in a year's time, those little pieces total more than 20 per cent of your

A search for the man who doesn't pay taxes would be about as fruitless as Diogenes' classic search for the completely honest man. He would have to be someone who does not eat, doesn't wear clothes, doesn't live anywhere, doesn't buy newspapers and magazines—a man, in brief, who doesn't do anything at all and doesn't need anything to do it with. Women: "Build-Up" To Relieve Pain

A weak, run-down, undernourished condition calls for attention!

Such a condition often enables functional dysmenorrhea to get its foothold. That's one thing which leads to much of women's suffering from headaches, nervousness, those cramp-like pains. A good way to relieve such pains, women by thousands have found, is by the proper use of CARDUI. It stimulates a lagging appetite, assists digestion and assimilation; thus helps build physical resistance to periodic pain. Taken just before and during "the time," many women also report that CARDUI helps to ease the pain and discomfort of the period.

Texas Oil Industry Produces 25 Per Cent of the World's Supply

With December issues of state newspapers, the Texas Oil Industry through its service organization, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, is beginning a series of institutional and educational advertising.

"It is logical that Texas, being the biggest producer of oil, should think along lines of institutional advertising," George C. Gibbons, executive vice-president of the oil and gas group, said. "Twenty-five per cent of all the oil in the world and forty per cent of the oil in America comes from Texas. One hundred and thirty-four counties located throughout the state are now in production with exploration or leasing under headway in all but fourteen counties of the 254."

"Outside competition has forced average well production to such a low figure in Texas today that only most careful management can industry survive its fixed overhead costs. If through this institutional advertising program we can stimulate the bringing of other industry into the state, we can help stimulate added employment and in-centially our own industry through the use of more of our products at home.

"Each time we interest other industry in coming to Texas to use our oil products we cut down exportation of our surplus. The new paper mill at Lufkin is an example in point. Though the paper is made of another raw product, timber, it is made possible through the tremendous supply of cheap fuel. Much of our raw product is yet to be processed within the state. Wool and cotton are both examples of such opportunities.

"The oil industry has made tremendous strides in the processing of its crude oil, now refining more than eighty per cent within the state's borders and thereby furnishing employment for many thousands of Texas people.

"The advertising series will endeavor to portray to the public the part the oil industry plays in the economic life of Texas and its contribution to employment, tax revenues, distribution of new wealth created through constant production of oil and the advantage it offers to new industry."

Missionary Meeting Monday

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church held an all day meeting, Monday, Dec. 4th, beginning at 10 o'clock.

The morning program was a "Prayer Retreat" led by Mrs. Joe McCrary. A very fitting and inspiring devotional of prayer was given by Miss Ella Temple. This was followed by a piano solo: "Have Thy Own Way," played by Mrs. McCrary.

A most uplifting talk on prayer was given by Mrs. C. A. Bickley of Abilene who was the society's guest and main speaker for the day.

Lunch was served in the church basement after which a program beginning at 1 o'clock was led by Mrs. R. B. Wiar. Her subject was "Stewardship."

Mrs. Gordon Bennett gave an interesting devotional on "Stewardship." This was followed by a quartet, Mrs. Wiar, Mrs. McBride, Mrs. Hackley and Mrs. Rountree, who sang the beautiful song, "Take My Life and Let It Be." Mrs. Bickley then gave a talk on "Stewardship," which was equally as inspiring as her talk before noon. The president, Mrs. L. H. McBride regretted that all the women of the church could not have been present at this most beneficial meeting nearing the close of this year's work.

The Missionary Society expects and urges a good representation of its membership to go to Abilene Friday, Dec. 8th to its "Harvest Day" meeting, when each Society gives its annual report of the year.

A NOTED EDUCATOR Speaks . . .

Dr. Homer P. Rainey, President of the University of Texas, has analyzed Texas' future possibilities in repeated public address. These statements express his thought:

"The next stage in the progress of Texas lies in the development of our great industrial and commercial possibilities."

"A program of industrial development centers around the manufacture of raw materials into finished products."

"American industry is moving closer to its raw material sources. We in Texas can capitalize on this movement if the opportunity is grasped."

"Our great highway development, coupled with industrial progress, will greatly aid the Texas farmer in his marketing problem."

"The best measure of the importance of an enterprise is the employment it creates and the income it produces."

"Our need for increased employment requires the keenest intelligence in solving the problem. Our boys and girls must be trained in highly efficient schools to meet the growing needs of farm and business."

"Our Universities are dedicated to a program of scientific training and research which will create employment and build industry to use our raw materials at home."

"Repeated failures did not stop our hardy pioneers in the building of our present empire. The same spirit must prevail for a successful future."

The Texas oil industry recognizes the soundness of these broad principles. They underlie present employment and provide for expanded future employment for our Texas people. The vital part oil plays today in putting these principles into actual practice will be portrayed in a series of advertisements to follow in this publication.

METHODIST CHURCH

JOHN WITT HENDRIX, Pastor
The Church School has many interesting elements, a big class of both men and women. Then it offers a big class of young people; also classes for every age and size. It invites you!

MORNING WORSHIP—10:50
Features a selection of choice well known hymns rendered by the choir—leaders for your profit, and the pastor will deliver a sermon, using as his theme, "Staying By The Stuff." Most of us are not half so uneasy about God forsaking us as we forsaking Him. Let's study this together Sunday morning.

EVENING WORSHIP comes on at 7 o'clock. Yes, it is earlier and the worshipers like it better. We try to run on the one hour schedule. Most of the evening choir is made up of the Junior choir, lead by Mr. Shipp. The pastor will deliver a sermon, using as his subject, "My Ambassadorship." After all there is something a bit strange taking place in our church: a man has come, with his wife, complete strangers to all; have settled in our house furnished. What is it all about?

YOUNG PEOPLE have a date with each other at the church at 6:15, to worship and fellowship. They observed the change of the hour last Sunday and kept the engagement. They were there and had their period of worship and were ready for the evening choir engagement. You are invited.

MAKING MUCH OF PUBLIC WORSHIP. It is the hope that our people will unite in serious endeavor to make much of the hours of public worship. We have in these twenty centuries proved some things, and one is, that something deep and abiding happens in these hours of associated worship. To these we cordially invite you.

Miss Mary Beth Moody, a student in S. M. U., spent Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moody.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Harrison are moving to McCamey this week. Mr. Harrison is with the Shell Pipe Line Co.

BOYD CHAPEL CHIRPS

(Mrs. L. F. Cozzen)

Oh, the good rain finally did come. It will maybe help to make a crop another year if it did come too late to help this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Lemmons from the Plains spent Thursday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Bingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haught and Mrs. Cozzen spent Thursday and Friday at O'Brien visiting Mrs. Vaden Lester and Mr. E. E. Teaff and children.

The play Friday night at the school house was enjoyed very much by every one who saw it. So many failed to see it on account of it not being advertised and were disappointed so if they will go to Union Friday night of this week they can see it. The name of the play is "George In A Jam," and he really is in a jam, but it comes out in the end. It is really worth your time and dime to see it.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cornelius made a flying trip to Big Spring Friday of last week. Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Cornelius' mother, returned home with them to spend several weeks.
